

Instant battlespace management: Just add water.

At Lockheed Martin, we know that navies around the world rely on a variety of platforms to achieve mission success. That's why our C2 combat systems are based on scalable, open architecture designs that are fully net-centric, offer maximum capability with minimum life cycle cost, and can be easily upgraded to incorporate new sensors, weapons, and technologies. Small wonder our C2 systems are on platforms operating on, under and above the sea. Lockheed Martin C2. Any platform. Anywhere.
